Dear Disney,

Last weekend, the four members of my family spent an enjoyable holiday at the Magic Kingdom—Disneyland. And one event made our visit seem truly magical.

We got to the front of the line at Space Mountain, only to find out that our little daughter Gloria couldn't take her ice-cream on the ride. We were so excited that we all forgot ice-cream was not allowed on the ride.

Gloria broke into tears and we all had no idea what to do. Then Murphy, one of the staff (员工) members, came over. She bent down and told Gloria that she would hold the ice-cream for her and give it to her when she finished the ride. Gloria said, "Promise?" Then she gave Murphy her ice-cream, and she completely enjoyed the ride.

Sure enough, as we walked out the exit, there was Gloria's new friend with "her" ice-cream. Now you and I both know what happened, because we know that an ice-cream won't last twenty minutes on a summer afternoon in Florida. Murphy knew what time we would get off the ride; she went to the nearest shop and bought a brand-new ice-cream thirty seconds before we walked out the exit. Gloria said, "Thank you," but I'm sure she thought it was the same ice-cream.

We know that someone tried hard to make our visit special. Thanks so much for going above and beyond!

Your fan,
Carmen Rivera

D. Answer the questions (根据短文内容回答下列问题) (12 分)

It's March, 2050.

Frank and Mary Smith wake up in their comfortable house in the morning and switch on the bedroom computer to get the latest news. They used to read the Times, but changed to electronic newspapers many years ago.

There is the usual news about space: another space flight has returned from Mars and scientists have discovered a new planet. Then they turn to business news: the US dollar has risen greatly in Shanghai, one of the world's leading business centres. Mary tells the computer to buy 5,000 dollars, and there is a quick response that it has been done.

As they watch the screen, Mary orders one of the household robots to make coffee for them.

Frank disappears into the study to join a video conference with his partners around the world. He is a computer engineer, working for several companies. This is his third job: he used to be in marketing and then television.

Mary has a quick look at the shopping channels—the usual selection of electric cars, household robots and cheap travel offers—before picking up the video phone to talk to her assistant. She also has a job and she is doing medical research. Both she and Frank used to have an office desk in London, but in 2014 they decided to move to the seaside and work from home.

Frank and Mary have one daughter, Louise, who also has her own workstation at home. She goes to school only one day a week, mainly to play with other students. Classrooms disappeared in 2030 because there was no longer any need for them: communications systems have made it much easier to learn at home.

Louise, now thirteen, is studying Chinese at present, which has become a world language as important as English. Louise has many Chinese friends. They communicate by computer.

According to the family doctor, Louise will live to at least 130. Her wish is to work for a few decades (十年) and then spend her time on music and painting.

VI. Reading comprehension(阅读理解)(共 50 分)

A. Choose the best answer(根据短文内容, 选择最恰当的答案)(12 分)

Dear Liz,

My stay in Thailand has certainly been the experience of my life.

Life is busy and exciting. Bangkok is just like any other big city with a population of 10 million and heavy traffic. I'm very lucky because my host family is in a nice quiet area outside the city. There are Mr. and Mrs. Phairat, their son Sanan, who is 18, the daughter Chinda, who is 16, and Grandpa and Grandma.

I go to an international school with Sanan and Chinda. The school teaches about 70 percent in English, and 30 percent in Thai. I've learned some spoken language, but Thai writing is very difficult. The cooking lesson is my favourite. I'm learning all about Thai food and culture. People don't use chopsticks here, but spoons and forks. When I come back, I'm going to cook you a real Thai meal.

Last weekend we visited some temples. We also drove to Pattaya beach near Bangkok. I thought it was great, but Sanan and Chinda say that next month they're taking me to Phuket Island, where the beaches are even more beautiful. The month after next, we're going to travel to Mr. Phairat's hometown in the north of Thailand. The Phairats own land there, and they have two elephants. I'm going to ride those elephants — and even wash them. Sanan and Chinda say it's really fun.

I'm amazed by everything in this country, especially by the elephants. Elephants are an important part of Thai culture and way of life. They have been a traditional symbol(象征) of Thailand for many years in times of war and peace. In the seventh century, a Thai king trained 20,000 elephants for battle.

I'll tell you all about my Thai boxing(拳击) lessons next time I write.

Love,

Mandy

C. Read the passage and fill in the blanks with proper words(在短文的空格内填入适当的词，使其内容通顺。每空格限填一词，首字母已给)(14 分)

At some time in your life, you might have a roommate. It is a good idea to share a flat, especially for students or people who have just finished school, because flats are usually expensive. And m 86 is not the only reason for having a roommate. Sharing a flat can be fun.

But life with a roommate can also be a t 87 experience. Some experts(专家) did a study of college students who shared a room. They found that students who had problems with their roommates were not happy at school and were more likely to get sick than other students. So, how can you l 88 with a roommate and enjoy it? Here is some advice:

Being roommates with a friend can be hard. Friends may be different when you stay with them all the time from when you don't see them very o 89 . So, before you plan to share a room with a friend, discuss the situation carefully.

If you decide to share a room with someone you don't know, talk to each other. It's important to be h 90 about your habits and things you hate.

When you move in with a roommate, make rules. Decide how you will share h 91 , such as cleaning, washing and shopping. Will you share food? Is it OK to have guests? And what about loud music?

Don't get angry at small things that your roommate does. Try to f 92 the unhappy things between you and your roommate. No one — including you — is perfect.

D. Answer the questions(根据短文内容回答下列问题)(12 分)

"I sometimes get up at three or four in the morning to surf the Internet"

"I check my e-mail almost forty times a day. "

"I seldom spend less than three hours each time on the net."

"spend more time in chat rooms than with my 'real-life' friends. "

Do you know any people like these? They are part of a new addiction(瘾) called Internet addiction. According to experts, Internet addicts(迷) spend at least thirty to forty hours online every week. They lose control of the time they spend on the Internet.

For example, one college student was missing for several days. His friends were worried and looked for him everywhere but couldn't find him. They called the police. The police found the student in the computer lab: he was surfing the Internet — for seven days straight.

A study shows that about six to ten percent of Internet users become addicted. The teenager spend more time on the Internet than with friends and family. That's why some experts worry most about young people.

Is “surfing the Internet” a hobby or all addiction for you? You may have a problem if you have one of the following symptoms(症状):

- ★You go out with your friends less and less.
- ★You can't wait to get online again.
- ★You've decided to spend a short time online, but then you spend several hours.
- ★You do not go to important family events or you do not do school projects because you like to spend hours on the Internet.

What is the solution? Some experts suggest that people set strict limits on their time for Internet use. You have to learn to control it, or the Internet would control you.

93. How many hours does an Internet addict spend online every week according to experts?
94. Where was the missing college student found?
95. Why do some experts worry most about young people?
96. What is one symptom of Internet addiction?
97. How can Internet addicts solve their problem?

下面是2013年中考英语听力理解中的短文,讲述了住在城市里的父亲 Henry 和儿子 Tom 去乡下后,儿子的“童言无忌”引出了爸爸的“有感而发”,那就是: Very often we only notice what we do not have and forget what we have. If we can enjoy what we have already have, we will live a happier life.这也是这个故事的“Main idea”。

C. Listen to the passage and tell whether the following statements are true or false (判断 下列句子是否符合你听到的短文内容,符合的用“T”表示,不符合的用“F”表示): (共 7 分)

Henry was a rich man who lived in the city. One day he took his son, Tom, to the country. First, they travelled by plane for about an hour. Then, they walked for two hours to a farm. They stayed there for a week with a poor family. Henry wanted Tom to see how other people lived. When they returned from the trip, Henry asked his son, “How did you like your trip, dear?” His son answered, “It was great, Dad! I saw lots of interesting things.” “At home, we have one pet dog. But they have several. They have chickens, dogs and other animals, too. We swim in the pool, but they swim in the huge lake. We have a garden, but they have green fields where the children can run about freely. We hang lanterns in the garden at festival times, but they can see the bright stars at night. We buy frozen food at the supermarket, but they get fresh food from the farm. We have to lock our doors when we go out, but they can sleep with their doors open. Thanks, Dad. I've learned a very good lesson. Now I know how poor we are!”

Henry was surprised to hear that. Very often we only notice what we do not have and forget what we have. If we can enjoy what we have already have, we will live a happier life.

对于 2013 年中考英语听力中最后一个题目，一般来说都是给一个对话，然后根据对话内容完成句子。今年则是给一个短文讲述 Susan 的一些情况，然后完成句子。

学生对于“听短文完成句子”的题型并不陌生，因为所有的一模试卷和二模试卷中的这种题型，基本都是这样的。

Part 3 Reading and Writing (第三部分 读写)

Sally: an animal doctor

What's the worst thing that's ever happened in your job?

Probably the dog that bit me. It wasn't a big one - I don't mind the big ones. The small ones are the worst. It gave me a very nasty bite.

Have you ever done any other jobs?

Yes, I did different kinds of jobs when I was a student. One summer I did fruit-picking in Spain.

What's the worst job you've ever done?

In order to improve my English, I worked for a rich family in New York. I never had a day off and I had to do everything – cooking, cleaning, shopping- and look after their horrible children. I left after two weeks and managed to get a job as a waitress in an Italian restaurant.

Leo: an actor

What's the worst thing that's ever happened in your job?

So many bad things have happened-but I think my worst moment was when I read my first bad review in the newspaper. They wrote terrible things about me, and I was so upset. After that I didn't read my reviews any more.

Have you ever done any other jobs?

Oh yes, it's hard to make a living as an actor. So I've done lots of part-time jobs over the years. For example, I've worked in a shop, sold ice cream at the beach and handed out publicity flyers in the street.

What's the worst job you've ever done?

The worst job I've ever done was at an egg-packing factory. Working conditions are terrible-you stand for hours at the end of a belt, putting eggs into boxes. You can't have a break, and if you want to go to the toilet, you have to ask for permission. And worst of all, the smell was terrible- I've never eaten an egg since then.

Be yourself

We wish that we could be better at sports or more attractive. We wish we had nicer clothes or more money. Everyone likes to feel that he or she is special. 75, many of us grow up believing that we're not special at all. We believe we are not good enough just as we are.

Most parents want us to be the best we can be. Very often, they 76 us to others. By doing this, they try to encourage us to do better. They mean well, but the message we often get is that we're not good enough. We begin to believe that the only way we can be special is by being better than someone else, but we are often 77. There will always be someone out there who is better than we are at something. Plenty of people around may not be as smart as we are, but they are better at sports. Or they may not be as good-looking, but they have more money. It is 78 for us to be better than everyone else all the time.

We all want the things that we believe will make us better people. But very often we don't realize that we already have 79 us the very things that we want. These things make us different from others. When we are growing up, 80 sometimes forget to tell us that we are special, that we are good enough. Maybe no one told them when they were growing up. Anyway, it's up to us to remind them from time to time that each of us, in our own way, is special. What we are is enough.

Chris is not a traditional explorer (探险者) - he usually works in an office for a large organization. Yet his job can sometimes be just as exciting and dangerous as being an explorer.

Chris works for MSF, an organization also known as Doctors Without Borders (无国界医生). MSF sends trained doctors all over the world to help people after a war or a disaster. Chris is a doctor from France who has travelled to many places to organize programs that help people.

At the moment, there are over 27,000 trained medical staff taking part in MSF projects and tasks. The organization received the Nobel Peace Prize in 1999. All kinds of doctors can volunteer for MSF. They need to be prepared to go almost anywhere in the world and, of course, they should expect difficult conditions. Doctors with experience in tropical (热带的) diseases are especially useful because most of MSF's work is in Africa. When MSF accepts a doctor for a task, he has to go for at least six months. When doctors have completed a few tasks, they might be sent on an emergency task following a disaster, such as an earthquake.

But why would a doctor leave a comfortable life and a good salary to join MSF? According to Chris, the experience you gain is a great help in your career. Besides, just like the explorers of the past, you need to keep an open mind and learn to mix well with the people you meet. Most importantly, at the end of each task, you have made a real difference to people's lives.

C

My aunt and uncle sent me an unforgettable birthday present from their trip to Hong Kong last year. It was a big bottle of shampoo. At first, I thought it was great. It smelt good, like flowers and honey, and it did a great job of cleaning my hair. But as soon as I went outside, a bee started to follow me. Then another bee joined in, and very soon, a large number of bees were flying after me around the garden. The bees like the smell of my shampoo. I ran and jumped into my neighbour's swimming pool. I stayed under water as long as I could. When I climbed out of the pool, I quickly looked around. The bees were gone. I ran straight home, hoping there were no more bees waiting for me nearby. That night, I called my neighbour and apologized for jumping into his pool. Then I wrote my aunt and uncle a nice thank-you letter. But I never used that shampoo again.

Dan Carter is my best friend. We met when we were 5 years old because our parents were friends and we went to the same school. He lives in London now. He works as a teacher at the international school there. So I only see him in the summer when he comes home to visit his family. Of course, we stay in touch by email and sometimes we call each other. He is important to me because he knows me so well. When I feel sad or when I need to talk to somebody, I can always call him. Recently, I had friend problems and he made me feel better. He's a really good listener. He just lets you talk and he listens. But he isn't perfect. He is always late for everything, and he never says sorry, never! One day, last summer, we arranged to meet at seven to play football, but he didn't come on time. He arrived at half past nine. It was nearly dark! Oh, well, nobody's perfect, are they? Last time I saw him at Christmas. We had a great time. We always have a great time.

D. Answer the questions(根据以下内容回答问题) (12 分)

Dear Santa Claus,

I don't believe in Santa Claus
Like many other folks.
I think you're just a fairy tale.
I think you're just a hoax.

I don't believe you're keeping track of who's been bad or good.
I don't believe you know if I've been sleeping when I should.

I don't believe that reindeer fly.
I don't believe in elves.
I think the toys under our tree were bought from toy-store shelves.

I once believed when I was six;
now at seven I know better.
But if I'm wrong and you are real,
Please forget about this letter.

Denny D'Souza

Dear Denny,
Ho! Ho! Ho! Merry Christmas!

Soon I'll start my trip round the world on Christmas Eve. Everyone here is hurrying about making final preparations so that we'll be ready on time.

I'm writing to you because we have a problem. Last night when I was checking my "Naughty and Nice" lists to see who would get presents this year, I noticed that your name was not on the "Nice List"
yet. The main reason for this is the poem you sent me.

I'm disappointed that you think I'm a hoax, so I won't deliver any presents to you this year — how can I if I don't exist? The elves and I are hoping you will change your attitude before Christmas so that you'll be on my "Nice List" by then. Will you try, Denny?

We'll cheer for you!

Best wishes

Santa Claus

We used to have fun together, shopping and meeting friends. Now she spends all her time sending messages on her phone, and she doesn't work hard. She hasn't been out with us for weeks, and she is not interested in doing anything. And she's had problems in school, because she checks for messages in class. What should I do?

(The telephone is ringing again.)

Hi, I'm Damon. I'm worried about my brother, Victor. He eats a lot of junk food. He's already eaten three hamburgers and two packs of French fries today. And it's only 11 o'clock in the morning, and he has drunken three cans of Cola. Last night, he told our mum he wasn't hungry, but he went to the shop and bought chocolate. He always loses his temper easily. I tried to talk to him about it, but he got angry with me. In fact, he hasn't spoken to me at all this week. My parents haven't noticed yet. Should I say something to them?

Letter A

Young people are always told that they should make the most of their time, that they will never be as free again. So, my question is – why fill up all this free time with housework? Parents expect their children to get good grades, be good at sports, and be popular with other kids. However, there is not enough time in the day to do these things and then do housework as well. It's not fair to expect teenagers to give up their precious time to do boring housework. Parents and children both have jobs. Parents' jobs are in the workplace. Their children's jobs are at school.

The only difference is that parents get paid and children don't. Parents say that they make their kids do housework to teach them responsibility. But this is just a trick. Parents trick their kids into doing housework because they are lazy.

Yours,

Overloaded

Letter B

Both parents and children have jobs. The parent's job is to go to work to earn money. The child's job is to go to school. But we all get hungry. Someone has to cook the meals and clean up afterward. We all wear clothes that get dirty. Someone has to wash them, iron them and put them away. Children work from 9 until 4. Parents work from 8 until 6. Sure, after 4 o'clock, children have homework. But after 6, parents have homework too. They have to do the shopping, go to the bank, pay the bills and help their kids with their own homework!

I think it's only fair that teenagers help out a bit at home. They might not like it, but it's good for them. It teaches them how to look after themselves. This is really useful when_____93_____.

Sincerely,

Overworked

 Marisa Is it ever OK to lie to a child? My 10-year-old son plays soccer. He's not very good, but he loves it. Yesterday he played very 75. When he finished the game, he asked, "Did I play well?" I said, "Yes! You're a great soccer player!" Did I do the right thing?

 Bay212 Yes, you did the right thing. White lies are a(n) 76 part of life. Sometimes you have to tell lies that do no harm. Your purpose was to make him feel good. Now he's ready to play soccer again.

 Bernie I don't think there is ever a good reason to lie to our children. Children learn honesty from the 77 they see. As parents, we should be honest in order to teach honesty to our children. Every lie requires five more lies. If you keep hiding truth from them, they will not 78 you. They will not respect you. Honesty is the first step to a good parent-child relationship.

 Missy You lied to make your son feel better, but you 79 a good chance to teach him a life lesson. People should work hard for what they want. Maybe next time you can say, "No, you didn't play well today. Great soccer players practise a lot. Let's go and practise." The truth will make him 80 and a good soccer player.

 Parviz Parents should be honest to their children, but they don't have to tell the whole truth. Next time when your son asks, "Did I play well?" you can say, "What do you think?" Then your son can tell you what he thinks. That way, everything you say is true, and you avoid truth that hurts.

D. Answer the questions (根据以下内容回答问题) (12 分)

It was Saturday again. Grace and Karen disliked Saturdays. That was another thing the twins had in common. They shared the same clothes and tied their hair in the same manner. In fact, it was hard for their classmates and teachers to tell them apart sometimes.

Unlike their classmates, they had to get up early at seven every Saturday to prepare for their lessons. Grace had to attend the art lesson and Karen had to attend her ballet lesson. "How I wish I could do something different today," said the twins with one voice. All at once, an idea came to Grace and Karen at the same time. "How would you like to be me for a day?" they asked each other. It seemed like a wonderful plan to them. After giving each other a description of their own friends, Grace put on Karen's ballet dress while Karen put Grace's brushes and paints into her bag. Then they left for their classes.

When the art lesson started, Karen was lost. Unlike Grace, Karen was poor at drawing. When the art lesson finally ended, Karen didn't dare to hand in her work.

Meanwhile, Grace was struggling in the ballet class as well. As she had no idea about the dance steps, she had to follow her classmates blindly. As a result, she kept knocking into them. Their ballet teacher became impatient with her, "Karen, you should remember the basic steps. You can't rely on copying what others are doing."

When Karen and Grace got home, they were tired out. They decided that they would never try to be someone else they were not. It seemed that the grass was not always greener on the other side.

88. Did Grace and Karen like Saturdays?

89. When did the twins get up on Saturdays?

90. What was the twins' plan when they decided to do something different?

"Perhaps they're going to steal the teapot again. I must think of a plan," he thought.

Mr. Chan's daughter, Amy, met him at Hong Kong Airport. Mr. Chan was carrying two boxes. He gave his daughter the pink box and said to her in a low voice, "Take this gift box home with great care." He walked away with the brown one. The two men followed him.

Amy opened the box at home. She was expecting a pair of sports shoes, but she just found an old teapot. "This is not a very interesting gift," said Amy, a bit disappointed. "That's all right. When the thieves entered Mr. Chan's flat, it was dark and quiet. All of a sudden, the door closed and the lights went on. The police were waiting inside.

Amy and her mother came out of the bedroom with the teapot. "That teapot is very valuable," said Mr. Chan. "A long time ago it belonged to an emperor. He drank tea from it."

This month, we had the honor of interviewing six local change-makers aged from 11 to 17. These weren't stopped by their age or size or lack of resources, they saw a 75 in the world around them and to step where they could. They support female soldiers raise money through their efforts, teach other kids about life lessons, and use their free time to 76 the old trees we love so dearly in the community. Each of them had adults in their lives encouraging and supporting their work.

We were also honored to interview a famous writer for his new book, Start Now! You Can Be a Change-maker. The book explains some of the world's big problems—hunger, health and animals in danger—in a way that young children can understand. The book shows them, through other kids' stories, how they can make a 77, too. In our interview with the writer, he shares that each time his children take a small action, such as recycling, he talks with them. He uses the moment to discuss how small changes can achieve a great effect. It's a step any of us can take to help children realize how 78 they are.

At this time of year, we often hear lots of questions from parents. The most one is, "What volunteer chances are there for young children under 16?" The kids in the interview and in the book show us that parents don't have to find an organized event for their kids to take part in. They can create their own chances. As parents, teachers, aunts, uncles, and friends, it's our job to 80 for what speaks to a child's heart, help them take that first step, and watch what their little hands can do.

Start now, and you can raise a change-maker.

Paul was my little brother, and he was special. He was different from me because he sat in a wheelchair, and he was blind. Lots of times when we walked with Paul, other kids came over and asked us why he was in his chair and why he couldn't 81. They thought he was different because he had his own school bus and had to go to a special school. But that's not really the reason. Paul was different for the things just our family knew about—only we knew the 82 that made him special.

Paul helped me hear small sounds. Every time I was with him, I'd have to beg 83 to hear the flying birds and the talking trees he heard.

Paul helped me exercise. When we went for a walk, we'd often go uphill. When I pushed his chair all the way to the woods at the 84, I was really getting my exercise!

Paul 85 ever complained. He went along with whatever the rest of us wanted to do. One time when he had a fever, he got uncomfortable, but he never shouted or fought or asked me to switch the TV channel.

Sometimes Paul let me put things in his hand. We played a kind of guessing game. I put different toys there for him to 86. He was always surprised when I let him hold something new.

Paul was my friend. He couldn't talk to me like most of my friends, and he couldn't run outside to play. But he was there for all the peaceful times, and he had the best smile in the world.

I was l87 to grow up with him as his sister. He helped me to realize that there is a good side to every situation, if we simply make the choice to find it.

VII. 94. 作文题目：结合阅读中的几个观点，人生哲理、选择朋友、以貌取人、要讲诚信，任选其中一个，结合自己的事来写一篇。

今年的作文题一改往日的出题思路，让同学们在同一份试卷的阅读篇目中，选择一个主题结合自身实例来夹叙夹议写一篇文章。出题思路新颖，角度多样化，学生有了更大选择空间和思考空间，不失为一次独特的作文命题。

在阅读中，同学们可以看到人生哲理的探究，可以选择讲讲朋友之间的故事，可以告诫大家以貌取人的错误之处，还可以自选实例说说诚信的必要性。

但话题选择越多，思考就越容易受到干扰。快速确定一个话题，然后围绕这个话题去思考是很重要的。确定话题后，注意审题，要结合自己的情况进行表达，可以列举自己身上的或自己遇到小事例进行说明。

参考范文：

Honesty

We always hold one opinion that honesty is the most important thing in the world. We need to value and practice this quality in our daily life.

In my exams, I experienced several occasions when I had to face up the correcting mistakes my teacher made on my test papers. Although my teacher gave me higher marks on the answer sheet, I honestly pointed out my actual mistakes overlooked by the teacher. I think honesty would be more precious than the unreal scores.

I would like to say that only when we all, behave in an honest way in every aspect of our life together, can we have a more harmonious world.

Don't Judge a Book by Its Cover

As an old saying goes, don't judge a book by its cover. I didn't recognize the true meaning of it until last year. In my neighborhood came a man with a scary face. The first several times I came across him, I always ran away quickly, with hands covering my eyes. Later, I knew from my parents that he made a lot of effort to keep our neighborhood clean as a volunteer, which provides a better living environment for us. Realizing the mistake I made, I went to say sorry to him. And I really appreciated him for helping me learn that a person's internal beauty is always the most valuable part instead of his appearance.

D. Answer the questions (根据短文内容回答问题)

"Just because you can't see something, that doesn't mean it's not there. "This old saying is quite meaningful for British sculptor (雕刻家) Willard. The items he creates are so small that most of them fit on the head of a pin. You can see them clearly only through a microscope (显微镜) .

Many people want to own his art pieces. He's been honored by the Queen of England for his great art achievements. At every one of his exhibitions, the question is always the same. How does he do it?

The answer is very, very carefully. So carefully, in fact, that he actually slows his breathing down and works in between breaths. Willard usually works under a microscope using special tools that he creates. To paint his works, he uses the hair from a fly as a paintbrush.

Creating these detailed works is a very long and difficult process, and it isn't always enjoyable." It is a terrible dream when I start but a nice dream when I finish," he says. A single item can take at least several weeks to complete.

People have asked Willard why he chose to do something that needed effort and took time. His interest in creating small things began when he was five. He started creating houses and playgrounds for ants. Willard was not a strong student. He had difficulty in reading and spelling words. Some kids used to call him a loser. This made him feel small , so focusing on lite things helped him to feel big. The smaller his work got, the bigger he felt. A newspaper reporter said, "Willard has shown the world that he is special. Though _____ , he _____."

What do you need for an invention to be a success?

To begin with, good timing is very ____45____. You can have a good idea which the public doesn't want yet.

Take Giovanni Caselli as an example. He invented the first fax machine in the 1860s. Though the quality was excellent, his invention quickly ____46____. The fax machine did not become a necessary piece of equipment in every office until the 1980s.

Money also helps. The Frenchman Denis Papin had the idea for a steam engine almost a hundred years before James Watt was born. Denis never had enough money to 47 one.

You also need to be patient. It took scientists nearly eighty years to invent a light bulb. 48, you shouldn't be too slow. In the 1870s, Elisha Gray developed plans for a telephone. Gray saw it only as "a beautiful toy". When he finally sent details of his invention to the Patent Office (专利局) on February 14th, 1876, it was too 49. Almost the same designs had arrived just two hours earlier. The young man who sent them was Alexander Graham Bell. He is remembered as the inventor of the telephone.

Of course what you really need is a wonderful idea. If you haven't got one, a walk in the countryside and a careful look at 50 can help. The Swiss scientist, George de Mestral, had the idea for Velcro (粘扣) when he found his clothes covered in sticky seed pods after a walk in the countryside.

It's 5:00 a.m.! A morning call wakes up Marco. He doesn't get up so e 51 at home in Los Angeles. Well, maybe to eat breakfast once in a while but never to herd (放牧) cows and sheep! But Marco isn't at home. He is in Africa, on the grasslands of Kenya (肯尼亚). He is living with the herdsmen.

"Life is very different in Kenya. People live a p 52 life here on the grasslands. They can't afford TVs, cars or mobile phones. They make a living mainly by herding cows and sheep," Marco says.

Marco's trip to Africa isn't a h 53. It's part of the school project for biology course at Sunshine School. The school hopes the students will have more life experiences. They have never been to Africa. Kenya is a country which is c 54 new to the students from Los Angeles. When the students get there, they put on local clothing. Boys herd cows. Girls collect firewood and water. Families depend on their cows. As a result, the herdsmen and the students have to m55 from one area to another so that the cows have more grass to eat.

Now in Los Angeles, Kenya is on the minds of the students at Sunshine School all year. Disasters have killed many cows in Kenya, so the students decide to raise money to b56 cows for the local people. Each cow costs about $100. “One cow means more to the health of a family than money,” says Marco. “Here we are really giving life. A cow will give a kid milk every day.”

The school wants to give the students a different way of thinking. Helping the herdsmen in Kenya is just the first s57. Next, the students will try to discover ways to give a hand to those in Los Angeles who need help.

根据短文内容回答问题。

Triathlon is a race in which each person swims, rides a bicycle and runs over very long distances. It has been held ten times in Hope Town. Sam, aged 20, finished nine races with his younger brother Luke. Every race was a victory for them. Luke can't walk, talk or feed himself because of a rare brain illness since birth. But Sam wants his brother to know what it feels like to be part of a sport instead of having to sit and watch. A local TV journalist interviewed Sam after he received the Town Hero Award.

(J=Journalist, S=Sam)

J: How did you get the idea to include Luke in these events?

S: When I was ten, my mom showed me a video of two young men from another city doing triathlons. One of the men had a condition like Luke has. I got the idea from that.

J: What's it like having Luke along?

S: I feel good and proud during the whole triathlon, for I'm giving something to Luke. He can experience things any other man would.

J: What do you get from him?

S: It's the smile on Luke's face. That smile brightens me. The feeling of knowing that I've done something for him is unbelievable.

J: When you received the Town Hero Award, you talked about the importance of changing the way you see things. What did you mean?

S: People see Luke very differently: “Oh, he can't do something like that. He's disabled.” But if you just change how you see things, you can see there are many possibilities where Luke can do swimming, biking or even triathlons, like we do.

J: What do you want to share with other young men?

careful look at 50 can help. The Swiss scientist, George de Mestral, had the idea for Velcro (粘扣) when he found his clothes covered in sticky seed pods after a walk in the countryside.

"Life is very different in Kenya. People live a p 52 life here on the grasslands. They can't afford TVs, cars or mobile phones. They make a living mainly by herding cows and sheep," Marco says.

Marco's trip to Africa isn't a h 53. It's part of the school project for biology course at Sunshine School. The school hopes the students will have more life experiences. They have never been to Africa. Kenya is a country which is c 54 new to the students from Los Angeles. When the students get there, they put on local clothing. Boys herd cows. Girls collect firewood and water. Families depend on their cows. As a result, the herdsmen and the students have to m 55 from one area to another so that the cows have more grass to eat.

Now in Los Angeles, Kenya is on the minds of the students at Sunshine School all year. Disasters have killed many cows in Kenya, so the students decide to raise money to b 56 cows for the local people. Each cow costs about $100. "One cow means more to the health of a family than money," says Marco. "Here we are really giving life. A cow will give a kid milk every day."

Triathlon is a race in which each person swims, rides a bicycle and runs over very long distances. It has been held ten times in Hope Town. Sam, aged 20, finished nine races with his younger brother Luke. Every race was a victory for them. Luke can't walk, talk or feed himself because of a rare brain illness since birth. But Sam wants his brother to know what it feels like to be part of a sport instead of having to sit and watch. A local TV journalist interviewed Sam after he received the Town Hero Award.

(J=Journalist, S=Sam)

J: How did you get the idea to include Luke in these events?

S: When I was ten, my mom showed me a video of two young men from another city doing triathlons. One of the men had a condition like Luke has. I got the idea from that.

J: What's it like having Luke along?

S: I feel good and proud during the whole triathlon, for I'm giving something to Luke. He can experience things any other man would.

J: What do you get from him?

S: It's the smile on Luke's face. That smile brightens me. The feeling of knowing that I've done something for him is unbelievable.

J: When you received the Town Hero Award, you talked about the importance of changing the way you see things. What did you mean?

S: People see Luke very differently: "Oh, he can't do something like that. He's disabled." But if you just change how you see things, you can see there are many possibilities where Luke can do swimming, biking or even triathlons, like we do.
